“Improving health and care by connecting your information

Your local health and care organisations are working together to provide your care. By securely sharing your information, professionals from teams and organisations including GP practices, hospitals, health services in the community, mental health and social care who may be involved in your care can make better decisions about your care. This includes the care itself, and proactively planning and co-ordinating when and how it is provided to you.

For more information on how we do this, your rights and who to contact please see <https://www.thamesvalleysurreycarererecords.net/>”
